URL <http://www.sciencemag.org/content/292/5524/1979.2.short>. From the introduction: “For half a century, survivors of cruel experiments at Nazi death camps have been seeking a formal apology as well as more details about the research abuses they endured from Germany’s scientific societies. On 7 June, a few of those victims finally got an explicit apology from the head of the country’s premier basic research organization, the Max Planck Society, on behalf of its forerunner, the Kaiser Wilhelm Society (KWG), some of whose scientists were implicated in the nefarious research.”
